

DEMOCRATIC TICKET

Election March 21, 1922

For Congress—Tenth District:
H. ST. GEORGE TUCKER.

Very few people have noticed the Governor's call for an election on March 21, 1922, to elect a member of Congress from this district to fill out the unexpired term of the late H. D. Flood. Mr. Tucker has written some of his friends that he will be here Saturday, March 11th, for the purpose of getting acquainted and talking over election day arrangements. Come out next Saturday.

Bonds and roads

Gov. Trinkle in urging the Legislature to make arrangements to carry on the good roads program in Virginia, in our opinion is rendering his State a great service and while many were opposed to bond issue before the election few are opposed to it now, since the Good Roads Association with their expert accountants have shown the people that the $2,000,000 bond issue will come to additional tax burdens. We opposed the Governor, but if he is to be the Governor of all the people, he is our Governor also, and we shall applaud his efforts in behalf of every good public service he may espouse. Get the money on the roads Governor and people will praise you rather than curse you.

Strong Leadership for the Tobacco Marketing Association
The farmers of North Carolina, Virginia and South Carolina have vindicated the faith of those who had confidence in their judgement and business intelligence. In both the tri-state tobacco marketing association and in the North Carolina State Cotton Marketing Association, the farmers have proved their ability to select men of the highest qualifications as directors.

Consider the director elected from the Raleigh District. Sam the Raleigh Times the other day (mis)stated: "If the farmers are going to select men of the type of R. B. Whitley as directors, we are going to throw away about all doubts as to the success of the movement." Practically the same thing may be said of the directors elected in all three states. Look at all the names in last week's "Reference Special." They are confidence-compelling men.

Not only have a magnificent lot of men been chosen as directors, but the directors have themselves acted with wisdom in their choice of officers.

For president two men were at first put forward. These were Mr. J. M. Galloway of Guilford county, N. C., who is said to be the largest tobacco planter in the world in addition to being a man of the finest personal qualities, and Mr. George A. Norwood of Goldsboro, who is one of the ablest business men in North Carolina and one of the state's finest citizens, although growing but a small quantity of tobacco. In view of the tremendous responsibility resting on the president, Mr. Galloway refused to let his name be considered for that place, but accepted a place on the executive committee, and Mr. Norwood was drafted into service as president.

The vice-president from Virginia is Mr. Joseph M. Hurt, a man who achieved large success in the business world but who for years now has been nothing but a farmer. He and Secretary Treasurer M. O. Wilson have been two of the chief factors in the wonderful campaign which has won a sign up of 25,000 Virginia growers out of a 27,000 total in the state. South Carolina's vice-president is Mr. Bright Williamson. He is a man of superb business qualifications and unusual public spirit, who for months has thrown himself heart and soul into the cooperative marketing movement. The same thing is true of Director T. C. Watkins, Jr., of Virginia, elected on the executive committee. The successful sign up of more than half the growers in three states was itself a great victory. The election of directors and officers has also been a great victory. There are yet other victories to win and with men of this type to lead us, they will surely be achieved.

Tobacco Directors Report Success of Kentucky Growers
Reporting directly from Kentucky to the Directors' meeting of the Tobacco Growers' Cooperative Association held in Raleigh last week, members of the executive committee of the Board from North Carolina and Virginia investigating the Burley Growers' Association, reported that Cooperative Marketing of tobacco in Kentucky has been a complete success to date.

The success of the Kentucky growers is due in large measure to their freedom from the one crop system, according to the report, which states that in the land of blue grass, sleek cattle and fat hogs, the tobacco crop is the big money maker because Kentucky growers raise their food and feed at home instead of paying for it with the proceeds from tobacco.

The Directors from Virginia and North Carolina, of the Cooperative Marketing Association, who studied the Burley Association within the past fortnight, are strongly advising the growers of the Carolinas and Virginia to plant more hay and corn, and to raise enough live stock this year to insure the enjoyment of such splendid profits from tobacco as the Burley growers of Kentucky are celebrating with the first sales in the hundred ware houses of their Cooperative Marketing Association.

Buckingham
The tobacco market at Dillwyn closed on March 10th.

Circuit Court convenes in regular session here March 14th. The Board of Supervisors and the School Board are to meet here today (Monday). Mr. Willie Baird had to handle a load of his tobacco six times before it was sold, he took it to Dillwyn and brought it back home and then took it to Farmville where he was told he got $60 more for the load than he was offered at Dillwyn. Mr. J. W. Wooten shipped a lot to Lynchburg last week and only got $18 for his best grade.

Teachers in Mayeville and James River Districts will close their schools at the end of a 5 month's session. The many friends of Mrs. P. P. Glover will be grieved to know that she has been suffering from an attack of sciatica. Mr. Charles L. Glover died at Charleston, W. Va., last week at the home of Mr. Sam Glover, his oldest son, and his remains were brought to the old Christiana place to be buried beside his wife. Mr. Glover was a Confederate soldier and for the last few years of his life was almost totally blind. He had a considerable number of relatives in Appomattox county.

A lady near here shipped a lot of blooded turkeys to Richmond and later found she could have sold them for breeding purposes at a much higher price.

One man is said to have gotten ahead of the Virginia legislature for about the time the Senate was passing the bill to make it unlawful for a man to buy whiskey. This man is said to have given away one gallon of secret when a deal is made. All laws on the subject are abused but it looks like when the one quart a month law was in effect more people seemed satisfied than they have been with any other law we have had on the subject.

Conservative men here say they think the bonus bill that will put money into the hands of all bodied young men at this time will do decidedly more harm than good. Many a young fellow will not work as long as his share of the bonus money lasts.

Thrifty farmers who burned their plan land while the land was dry, are now rejoicing that they did, while those less fortunate are hoping the land will get dry in time to sow seed and raise plants.

Money is very plentiful with a certain number of people but with others it is hard and tight and there are men lending money as high as 25% per annum.

The statement is made in the press that we had only 10 days in February in which there was no falling weather. Mr. Hubbard Baird has gone to Richmond at the call of Uncle Sam and it is likely that as an ex soldier he may be educated at the expense of the State. Mr. Robert Spencer has built a nice new house on some land he purchased from the Tucker estate.

Mr. James M. Logan died at his home near Howardville, last Thursday. He was the only son of the late General Logan, who owned the Algoma farm in this county.

The teachers of the county are called to meet at the court house today, but the roads are so bad it is not likely many will attend.

The legislature has passed many bills but I failed to see where they have materially lessened the expenses of the State. They reduced the fees of Justices of the Peace and often times these fees are not paid by either the State or the counties.

Glad to think Buckingham will be grouped with Appomattox as a legislative district.

Wildwood

We are all in hopes the winter is over and the farmers can soon commence plowing for their crops.

I imagine if our old Fords could talk they would thank the ground-hog for coming out and seeing his shadow.

Mr. Claud Dinkins was home from school for the week end. Mrs. W. E. Warriner has been very sick but is better at this writing.

Mr. Z. V. Harvey has accepted a position as sawyer at E. L. Harvey's sawmill. We are so glad to have Vance stay in our community and wish him much good luck.

Mr. W. H. Simmons & Co. are expecting to move their mill to Prince Edward county soon.

Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Woolbridge and Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Tooley were guests of Mrs. J. O. Evans Saturday.

Miss Hazel Hoige, of Staebury, W. Va., is home on a visit. Mr. Curtis Rand has been visiting friends in Burkeville. Miss Hazel Doss has been visiting her cousin, Miss J. Smith for the last few weeks. All you girls get ready and we will give a certain little fellow a surprise party real soon. Don't forget to take along the Rook cards please.

Phoenix

Mr. L. B. Clark, spent Saturday in Roanoke. Mrs. J. W. Childress returned home Sunday accompanied by her daughter, Mrs. H. C. Carville.

Uncle George Harvey a faithful old slavery time colored man died here Monday.

All of Uncle Bob Faynes' friends were glad to see him back Saturday from W. Va., where he has spent the winter. Mr. L. M. Ellington left Sunday for a short business trip to Pittsburgh.

Mrs. Floyd Poundertor, of South Boston, visited her brother, W. G. Payne Sunday. Mr. Jack Brightwell of near Vincent died Sunday morning and was buried at Salem church Monday evening.

Misses awake.—New York Sun. "The person who is awake in the morning and finds that the sun is shining and that the birds are singing and that the world is full of life and joy, is a very fortunate person. He has won the great prize of life. He has won the right to live and to love and to be loved. He has won the right to be happy and to be content. He has won the right to be a man and to be a citizen. He has won the right to be a part of the great world and to be a part of the great life. He has won the right to be a part of the great future and to be a part of the great hope. He has won the right to be a part of the great dream and to be a part of the great vision. He has won the right to be a part of the great world and to be a part of the great life. He has won the right to be a part of the great future and to be a part of the great hope. He has won the right to be a part of the great dream and to be a part of the great vision."

Poetry at the Graveside.

A new style of professional mourner has appeared in Paris where at the end of the ceremony at the grave he steps up and asks permission to say a last word. No objection being made he recites a piece of suitable poetry with suppressed emotion and when the party is leaving the cemetery he is found waiting at the gate and fulfills a gift which is generally forthcoming.

Causes of Insomnia.

When a person is asleep far less blood flows through the brain than while he is awake. Anything that through the brain will make the mind active and prevent sleep. For this reason working or playing hard just before going to bed is often the cause of wakefulness. Some persons do not sleep well because their muscles are tired, others because they eat too late or eat too much, and then again some because they sleep in rooms not properly ventilated.

Man Not Unlike Lower Animals.

Darwin says that weeping is a habit that "must have been acquired since man branched off from the common progenitor of the genus homo and of the nonweeping anthropomorphous ape." This assertion causes us to ask, and to rotate to ourselves one more point of difference between us and the lower animals, until we read on and find an account by this same author of an Indian elephant, which when held captive, sobbed bitterly while tears rolled down his face.—Chicago Daily News.

Mirth and the Maiden.

"He was a mirth-loving man, and perhaps that accounted not a little for his successful amours; since women, are excessively lured by the seriousness with which men treat them, and they can seldom resist the buffoon who unites them laugh. Their sense of humor is crude. Diana of Ephesus is always prepared to fling prudence to the winds for the red-necked comedian who sits on his lat.—From "The Treachery of a Leaf," by Somerset Maugham.

Ended Embryonic Love Affair.

The first girl I ever called to see was entertaining me in the presence of another couple of young folks, when she reached over and pulled what she supposed to be a thread off my vest. She pulled about two yards out before she grasped the fact that she was unraveling my underwear. It was the last of that love affair.—Chicago Journal.

Ugly Men the Best Wooders?

Ugly men make the most successful woodsmen because, forced to be artful to overcome the natural beauty of the machine, they learn to use a charm of manner that leaves the beautiful man lengths behind. Dr. Bernard Hollander, London psychologist, said in a recent lecture. Women naturally distrust the pretty man, he argued, and think there can be no harm in the ugly one. Off to a flying start, the Cynano applies the oil, with happy or disastrous results, according to whether Cynano is honest or dishonest.—New York Sun.
